STEITZ SECURA presents safety shoes for firefighting and rescue services at Interschutz 2026

Interschutz is the world's leading trade fair for fire departments, rescue services, civil protection and safety. Every five years, the international industry gathers in Hanover, Germany to discover innovations, exchange ideas and experience the latest developments first-hand. In addition to the exhibition areas in the halls, the fair also offers impressive outdoor demonstrations where operational scenarios are showcased in a realistic setting.

This year, STEITZ SECURA will be present at the Interschutz. At its stand, covering around 150 square metres, the company will showcase its latest range of safety footwear for fire departments, rescue services and uniform. Visitors will have the opportunity to try on selected models directly at the stand and purchase them on site. STEITZ SECURA experts will also be available throughout the event to provide professional advice and carry out precise foot measurements.

A special highlight is the Firefighter Challenge with Martin Erbe. The runner-up in the 2025 World Fire Fighter Championship in Dallas, Texas, will invite trade fair guests to pull an 80-kilogram dummy and roll up fire hoses – the perfect opportunity to experience STEITZ SECURA firefighting boots in realistic action.

“With our presence at Interschutz, we are taking an important step forward in the fire and rescue sector. We are delighted to be able to present our products at this major international trade fair, to make new contacts and to highlight another aspect of STEITZ SECURA through an engaging exhibition concept,” explains Michael Huth, Managing Director of STEITZ SECURA.
